The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management; in fact, many times they do not.

SUDDEN CHANGE

There is much speculation as to why the recent grand jury so suddenly cooled off and forgot all about its unpleasantness with Max Grabstein, the Pittsburg councilman, who publicly, privately and vociferously declared that political enemies and the underworld had reached some members of the grand jury and influenced the body in writing a letter condemning his official conduct as a councilman of the City of Pittsburg.

BODY DEFINED

Mr. Grabstein was haled on the carpet by the inquisitors and asked to explain and prove his remarks. Max's reply was anything but the robust contumacious; in fact he advised in effect, one and all of the grand jury to go journeying on the broad highway, which leads to a climatic caloric. Moreover, to add insult to insult, he expressed the hope that the jury would soon adjourn so that his speech would be untrammeled in expressing his opinion without qualification of the people who composed it.

The entente cordiale, if such a thing ever existed, was then and there knocked into a cocked hat. More than that, any truce that existed was forthwith abandoned and hostilities were declared, it being mutually agreed that both sides waived any rules that imposed humane and civilized methods for such conflicts.

AWAITED BATTLE'S ROAR

In the meantime we sat with bated breath waiting for the opening guns betokening the beginning of hostilities. Everything seemed set and ready for the breaking of a real news story, and the biplane machines and their operators were

So Called Model Plan Is The Bunk

The so-called "model" system of running the county hospital through a joint doctor-citizen committee, with San Diego as the shining example of the success of the plan, flattened out like a pancake yesterday with the return of A. J. Tavan, prominent Alhambra Valley rancher from a week's investigation of the southern institution.

Mr. Tavan found that San Diego is very anxious to junk the system at the first opportunity and that opposition exists in every quarter.

"I discussed the hospital control plan there with every person of prominence and authority I could contact," Tavan declared, "and with out exception I found extreme opposition to it."

Tavan is preparing a detailed report of the expressions he secured for the board of supervisors and the Contra Costa Taxpayers' Association.

"I talked with hospital executives, members of the board of supervisors, doctors, publishers and businessmen." Tavan declared. "I found the plan labelled as a 'political football' and everyone with whom I discussed it anxious to dispense with the system."

"A newly elected supervisor characterized it as 'the most damnable thing ever put over on the taxpayers.'

The supervisors here have held one hearing on the proposal and will hold a second on July 8th.

The plan has been endorsed by the Contra Costa Medical Society, the Contra Costa Federation of Women's Clubs and farm groups and was opposed by the grand jury in its report filed last week.

It suggests a control board composed of one layman and one physician from each supervisorial district.

FLIER SETS RECORD FOR LONG FLIGHT

Success

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., July 3—UP—A thunderbolt concealed under the cowling of a blunt nosed Keith-Rider monoplane hurled tow-headed Earl Ortman down the Pacific Coast from Victoria, B. C., to-day at a pace that shattered all existing Canada-Mexico speed records.

The 23 year old Oklahoman gunned his small "bullet-plane" over the 1250 mile route in five hours, 17 minutes, one hour, 23 minutes, faster than the heretofore fastest time attained between the two international border points.

Allowing for a single refueling stop his actual flying time was six hours, 10 minutes.

Ortman, whose sole flying science admittedly is to "pull her wide open and see what happens" zoomed over this famous play resort at 4:34 P. M., signaling the end of his day's jaunt. He was clocked at that point by William Van Dusen, San Diego, official of the American Aeronautical Association.

Aqua Caliente is just across the United States border.

Three Sought In Holdup Try At Gas Station

MARTINEZ, July 3—Three men were sought by sheriff's deputies last night after they allegedly attempted to hold up a service station at LaFayette.

One of the men was identified as Alfred J. Sisson, wanted in San Francisco for a gas station holdup, police declared.

According to reports to the sheriff's office, the three men in a Chrysler coupe, without license plates, drove up to the Lukens service station at Lafayette. The proprietor became suspicious and called the sheriff's office. The men fled. Mrs. A. Sollars, who conducts an auto camp nearby saw the men and identified Sisson from a photograph sent out by police.

A broadcast was issued asking State police to be on a lookout for the trio. Sheriff's officers were unable to find any trace of the car or its occupants.

WASHINGTON, July 3—Senator McArdoo (D.) California, has received an autographed copy of an act recently signed by President Roosevelt guaranteeing him burial in Arlington National Cemetery. The Senator, who was Secretary of Treasury during the World War, said that although he did not intend to be buried in Arlington, he "appreciated the honor" and was glad "it saves me from Potter's Field."

Burglar Enters Home, Removes Cash From Room

Richmond police were searching last night for a daring daylight burglar who entered the home of Joseph Barsanti, 321 Barrett avenue and stole $27.

According to Barsanti, the money was placed in a dresser drawer early yesterday morning. The family was home all day, he told police.

Late yesterday afternoon, however, when Barsanti went into the bedroom, the dresser drawer was open and the money was gone. Police believe the burglar entered of 448 First street and family, while Barsanti was in the back yard.

WASHINGTON, July 3—UP—Two Congressional investigating committees of lobbying by Administration agents and power interests for and against the "death sentence" in the Wheeler-Rayburn utility bill seem certain tonight as the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee approved a resolution authorizing a $150,000 inquiry.

The House ordered the railroads committee yesterday to make an investigation, after twice refusing to yield to President Roosevelt's demand for the "death sentence" for "unnecessary" utility holding companies and instituting instead strict regulation.

TO BE APPROVED

The Senate resolution offered by Senator Hugo Black, Democrat, Alabama, still must be approved by the audit committee.

The House group is expected to meet Monday to plot the first move in its inquiry.

Meantime, President Roosevelt greeted newspaper correspondents today in a jovial mood, showing no pain over the smashups he had given him by the large Democratic majority in the House. The

NEW YORK, July 3—UP—Merton Ward Goodrich, sought for almost a year for the torture slaying of 11-year-old Lillian Gallagher of Detroit, finally confessed to the murder late today after his accidental arrest on charges of disorderly conduct.

"I know you know who I am," dully muttered the thin-lipped prisoner, twirling a cigarette of insane asylums he recounted the brutal killing.

He was seized first as "playboy Johnson" as he watched children wading yesterday in a Central Park swimming pool. He was on the verge of making a run for it to some of them when he was arrested.

His true identity was revealed in a step of ordinary police procedure—checking his finger prints which instantly unmasked Goodrich as the man branded by the International Association of Police Chiefs as "Public Enemy No. 1" sadist and murderer.

ORONITES WIN 1935 STANDARD OIL LOOP FLAG

ZEROLENES 9
IS WALLOPED
IN LAST GAME

Riding rough-shod over the Zerolenes, the Grizzlies club of the Standard Oil baseball team last night won the 1935 pennant. The Oronites annexed the game by a score of 11 to 3, getting 12 hits.

Only once did the Zerolenes threaten. That was in the fifth inning when two runs were pushed across the plate.

Truly hitting by Stewart, Viani, and Cola who got two hits in three trips to the plate, and by Fitzgerald, who got two for four, brought home the bacon for the winners.

The Oronites started to score in the second inning. Fitzgerald singled, went to second on Gifford's sacrifice, and scored on Matteri's triple. Gubbins singled to score Matteri.

Four more runs crossed the plate in the third inning. Viani walked; Stewart doubled and Fitzgerald was safe on Erickson's error. Viani scoring. Giffen then singled and Nelson was safe on a Helder's choice. Cola then hit to score Stewart. Fitzgerald and Nelson.

Four more runs were scored by the battling club in the sixth inning. Cola was up and drew a double; Geisberger walked; Viani singled, driving the bases. Then Cola stepped to the plate and smashed out a homer to clear the racks.

The Oronites scored their last run in the seventh when Nelson singled and came home on Cola's double.

The Zerolenes pushed two runs across the plate in the fifth inning. Erickson doubled; Kerschen was safe on a Helder's choice. Williams doubled to score the two runs. Their third run came in the seventh inning when Erickson tripped and scored on Carson's sacrifice.

This ended the 1935 Standard Oil baseball league season, which was one of the outstanding races of years for the local retinny men. Here is the box score:

Nazi-ism In Tennis

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 3—UP Dark, dashing Fred Perry of England, who rose from the public park courts to No. 1 in the world, and the blonde Baron Gottfried von Cramm, scion of a noble German house, will meet Saturday for the all-England singles championship most coveted of all tennis titles.

Perry, defending champion, advanced to the final round today with a 6-2, 5-6, 6-1, 6-1, routing Jack Crawford, though stroking Australian, after Baron von Cramm had tamed California's flaming red-head, Donald Budge, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. The matches were watched by 18,000 including Queen Mary.

Both matches were dull and uninteresting, especially the Perry-Crawford sets. The Australian, wearied by eight years of ceaseless wandering over the tennis courts of the world, was unable to lift his once magic game high enough to bother the champion.

Budge, who had walked on the court an even money favorite against von Cramm, never had a chance. Even in the first set, which he won, it was apparent that the smooth German ace merely was feeling out his man preparatory to unleashing the full power of his beautifully rounded all-court game later.

There was several upsets in the day's doubles play. Wilmer Allison of Texas and Helen Jacobs, one of the fancied mixed doubles teams, was defeated 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, by Fred Wille and Kay Stammers of England, and in the women's doubles, the British team of Evelyn Dearman and Nancy Lyle upset the seeded combination of Mrs. Dorothy Andrews of Stamford, Conn., and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, 6-3, 6-4.

Enrique Mater of Spain and Sidney B. Wood of New York moved into the quarter-finals of the men's doubles with a 2-6, 3-6, 6-8, 8-6, victory over C. D. R. Turkey and Percy Scriven of England.

Perry paired with Dorothy Roenick and gained the quarter-finals of the mixed doubles with a 2-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, victory over C. D. R. Turkey and Daniel Prentiss. They will meet the Californians, Don Budge and Gene Mako. The favored men's doubles team of Allison and Johnny Van Ryn was provided with quarter final round opposition when the South Africans, Max Bartman and W. Musgrave, defeated the English team of J. L. Chamberlain and J. S. Harrison, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

COURT LEARNS "SECRETS" OF FILM BEAUTY

LOS ANGELES, July 3.—UP—Movie actresses put nearly as much money on their faces each month as they put in them, a somewhat surprised judge was told today. Maria Kennedy, who demands $3,000 a month from Bushy Berkeley, dance-director, to make both end-meet, told Superior Judge Dudley S. Valentine she needed $200 a month to keep herself in beauty treatments and cosmetics and $250 for food.

Then there are other items, the court was informed, such as $250 for rent; $100 for gas, light and telephone; $150 for two servants; $100 for laundry and household upkeep; $250 for automobile and purchases and upkeep; $500 for clothes; $250 for dancing and vocal lessons and $1,000 for entertainment, personal incidentals and spending money, all of which Miss Kennedy said she sorely needed.

The actress estranged husband who earns $150 a week directing pretty girls through their film dance routines, complained that he couldn't support such a wife, estranged or otherwise. His bank account is already overdrawn $500 and besides he sends his mother $64 a week and his agent $100 to keep them going, he said.

When pinned down by Berkeley's attorneys on the cosmetics item, Miss Kennedy admitted that some months she didn't "quite spend" $200 in the beauty parlors. But, she hastily added, only last month she spent over $500 for clothes and, to prove it, she listed $72 worth of shoes, $25 worth of perfumes and $27.50 worth of new mink coat.

Judge Valentine advised Miss Kennedy, who was asking for the money pending trial of her separate maintenance suit, that he would think it over a few days before making a decision.

Lloyd George Is Back In Harness In England Now

LONDON, July 3.—White-manned Lloyd George, the "Welsh wizard" of politics, stepped back into the headlines today, returning to action after a long non-party man.

Some quarters asserted, however, that the wartime Prime Minister has his own swan song in an address yesterday to his newly formed council of action for peace and economic reconstruction, taking issue with opponents of his "new deal."

The Liberal News-Chronicle hailed the formation of the National Council as "an experiment in political technique," and urged its realizers to give it momentum.

The Conservative press solidly opposed the veteran statesman's new campaign.

Judge Who Jailed Sinclair Is Dead

WASHINGTON, July 3.—William Hitz, 63, associate justice of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, who ordered Harry F. Sinclair to jail after the oil millionaire refused to answer questions asked by a Senate committee several years ago, died at his home today.

He was appointed by President Wilson in 1916, and elevated to the Court of Appeals in 1931.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly well again. Just eat and drink a little.

For those who do it, there is a bowel and a mere moment doesn't give the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is that you should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into a glass.

If this bile is not flowing freely, you food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Clean blood up your stomach. You have a thick head and neck, and the blood in your skin often breaks out in blisters. Your head system is sluggish.

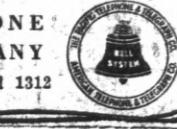

It takes these good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel well again. They are wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amaranth, which is good for making the bile flow freely.

Just one or two liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pill on the red label. Recent a substitute, Bradys Liver Tonic.

FOUR DEAD AS FISHING SHIP BURNS AT SEA

The rescued are Oram, James Thom and James McKinley. All suffered burns and shock. Oram's condition was serious.

The 50-foot seiner burned off Wood Bay in the Gulf of Georgia late yesterday. Fire started as the vessel proceeded in wintry weather.

The four who drowned left the vessel in a small boat, which was capsized by waves.

Oram, Thom and McKinley remained to fight the flames and were rescued by the Norma N. Captain Nicholson searched vainly for the missing persons.

RESIDENTS FLEE AS BIG FLOODS THREATEN CITY

EDMONTON, Alta., July 3.—UP—Floods in the Peace river district of Northern Alberta assumed dangerous proportions tonight and residents were fleeing to places of safety.

Slave Lake, a town on the southern tip of Lesser Slave Lake, and other lakeshore villages, appeared doomed.

As the raging waters poured over the banks of every stream and river in Northern Alberta, tent villages sprung up on nearby hills as residents gave up their fight to stem the floods. More than a quarter million acres of rich farm lands, on a conservative estimate are under water, and numerous farm animals have been drowned.

Every available man in the vast region was recruited for emergency work, clearing log jams, building barricades and rescuing stranded residents and their belongings by boat.

Frantic all-night efforts of villagers to turn the waters with sand bags and rock barricades failed, and the swift currents ripped through Peace River town, north of Slave Lake.

Appeals have been made to the government for quick relief. No lives have been reported lost yet but residents fear casualties if the water continues to rise. Transportation and communication are crippled and the Northern Alberta railway track and roadbed have been washed out for several days.

WASHINGTON, July 3—Alabama's "Tom-Tom" Heflin, sojourning in Washington in gleaming senatorial glory, is regaling his one-time Senate colleagues with rare stories. One of these follows:

Several Kentucky Derby visitors were driving home in a mellow mood and saw two hobo-hoos hiking on the road. Having come out ahead on the Derby, they bequeathed an extra pint to the two hikers.

In a short time the bottle was empty and they also were in need of moon.

"You know what I'm going to do when I get to Louisville," said one.

"No, what?"

"I'm going to buy the L & N railroad."

"Oh, yeah?" shot back the second. "I won't sell it to you."

AMENABLE

Inner Administration circles are wishing that Chairman John J. McSwain of the House Military Affairs Committee was not so amiable of disposition.

The benign South Carolinian is giving the White House plenty of headaches over the fate of the bill aimed at strengthening the powers of the TVA to meet the sniping of hostile courts.

As a result of the adroit floor leadership of veteran George Norris, the bill was put through the Senate without a hitch. But in McSwain's committee the bill was tabled by a 12 to 11 vote. A bolt of two Democrats, E. M. Schaefer of Illinois and J. J. Smith of Connecticut, did the trick.

The President summoned McSwain to the White House, stressed the great need and importance of the legislation and urged him to exert every effort to revive it. McSwain promised to do his best.

So, returning to the Capitol, he appointed a sub-committee to draft a compromising bill. But he did this without consulting the members of the committee who had been voting for the measure. All he did was apparently by deliberate intent.

Montgomery (Dem., La.), May (Dem., Ky.) and Plumley (Rep., Vt.)—all bitter foes of TVA legislation.

After several weeks of closed-door deliberations this sub-group reported out a new bill to the fund committee. It proved a caricature of the original.

Not only had the Senate measure been riddled, but provisions had been incorporated which weakened the existing law. That of these was a section giving the authority to re-appoint Comptroller General McCull, supervisor of TVA finances.

A bill with such a provision was sure of a veto by the President. Then the three sub-committee members went into the full committee and voted against their own bill.

NOTE.—McSwain professes publicly to be an ardent backer of TVA.

OFFICIAL PROMPTNESS

Letter received from AAA from County Agent John W. Stratton of Neosho, Mo., reads:

"Ye Gods and Little Fishies! Talk about stuff they wrap pie in. You sure have got it. You an' your letter of Dec. 1st, 1933, on May 18, 1934, and say 'Please therefore give this matter your prompt attention'."

CONVERT

Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith has had a change of heart.

Last year the strident voiced so-coldmian was an ardent enemy of the AAA. As chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, he stormed and raged against a bill to extend and strengthen its powers. Largely because of Smith's opposition, the bill failed to pass.

But now "Cotton Ed" has been converted. He is for the new AAA amendments.

Some of Smith's colleagues are inclined to think his conversion is due to his 21-year-old son, Farley, who is a clerk in the Agriculture Department.

Cotton Ed now has five members of his family on the Government payroll. They are:

C. Alfred Lawton, son-in-law, clerk of the Senate Agriculture committee.

Mrs. Isobel S. Lawton, daughter, assistant clerk of the committee.

Mrs. Anna B. Farley, another daughter, who is the wife of the manager of Smith's farm and who does not reside in Washington. She is also assistant clerk of the committee.

Farley Smith, son, clerk in the Department of Agriculture.

Elision Smith, Jr., clerk in the RFC.

Including Cotton Ed's senatorial salary of $10,000, the combined Federal income of the Smith family is well over $20,000 a year.

Amador Men Will Fight Riot Charge

SACRAMENTO, July 3.—Eleven men, indicted by the Amador county grand jury on charges of violating a riot section of the penal code by ejecting Arthur Warren, San Francisco labor fugitive, from a strike zone in the Jackson gold mining district, made an effort today to quash the accusation.

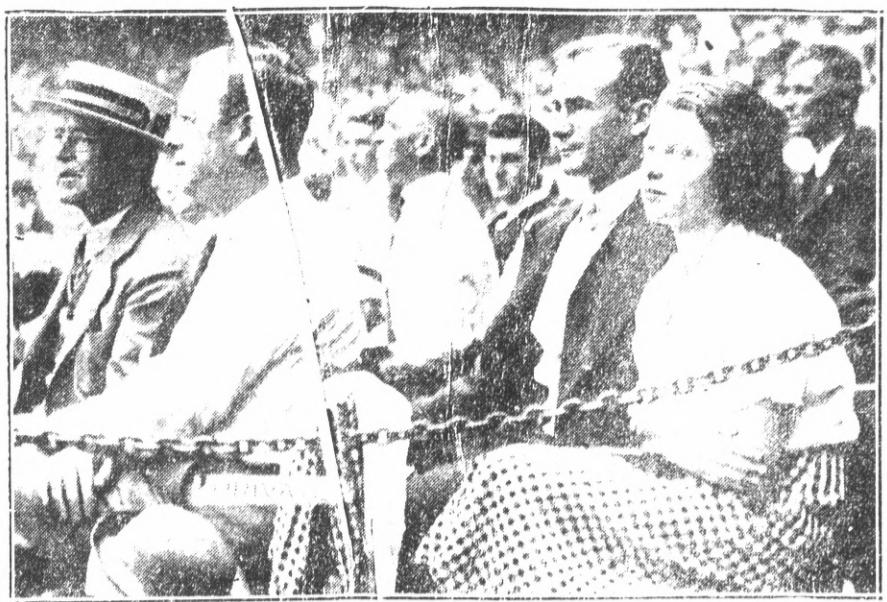

They filed in the Second District Court of Appeals here a petition for a writ directing the Amador County Superior Court to nullify the indictment on the grounds it was returned under prejudicial influence.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, July 3—UP.—A good butler, who can act natural in more of a Hollywood strenuous than the most beautiful girl, is needed.

Directors say screen butlers are as rare as an accurate carnival spicier. There probably aren't two dozen in movieland who conform to the standards best described by P. G. Wodehouse.

Once John Barrymore needed a butler for a comedy.

"He must play the part as though he came from a long line of butlers," Barrymore declared.

But that was a hard assignment.

Directors say the secret of a successful and artistic butler is to pose. He must never become cut-off. If the house is burning down, he must blithely announce the fact to his master and missus. When butlers arrive to stend the silverware, the successful screen butler must sedately ask if they wish to wait for the master.

Latest to crash the select circle of good camera butlers is E. V. Clive, the British actor. Clive, who studied butlers, their habits and manners for a long time before he left to qualify to fill a butler role here in how he played his butler's name.

The phone rang. He answered.

"This is the emergency switch," said the voice on the wire. "Hold the wire, Mr. Emergency Squad," he directed in precise tones. "I'll see if the master is in."

His manner was bland enough and no further retakes were necessary.

An all-star butler team would include such actors as Eric Blore, Edgar Norton, Robert Greig, Arthur Treacher, Hallie Hobbes, Ivan Simpson, Eric Wilson, Wilson Benge, Edward Cooper, Ol' Hulton, Leon and Casey, Charles Coleman, George Hazzell and Harold Nahan.

Then, of course, there is that new member, Charles Langton. His butling was just about perfection in "Ruggles of Red Gap."

FOLKS

THE ANCIENT SAXON "FOLC" MEANT THE ARMY BUT WHEN THE SAXONS MET "FOLCS" OF OTHER RACES THE WORD GOT TO MEAN ALL PEOPLE OF THOSE RACES. THAT'S WHY "FOLKS" TODAY MEANS PEOPLE IN GENERAL.

NEW YORK, July 3—President Roosevelt's town here at 49 East 66th Street, won't be rented out to strangers, after all. For several months a bright "For Rent" sign has hung in front of the Roosevelt residence, but apparently there were no takers.

Now the Roosevelt home, and in the fall the house will be occupied by the President and James Roosevelt, and his son, the Rev. May Roosevelt, grand old lady of the film colony, is visiting relatives, including her 10-month-old great-granddaughter, she called Greta Garbo, not a "tiny child."

We learned yesterday that the Swedish star, who has been making changes in her life, is with her husband, Dr. James Joseph Verrier, in Maine. They have named their new place "The Captain Falls" in which the couple have been gathered for health purposes.

"Music can charm even savages," the Mayor shot out, "but not the old fashioned."

One more broke the silence yesterday.

Jail Charges In S. F. Denied By Officials

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Sheriff W. J. Fitzgerald declared today that charges of graft in County Jail No. 1, made by three Federal prisoners, were "made up of the whole cloth."

The prisoners told Federal Probation Officer Charles Upton that an unnamed head ten-year at the jail had demanded payment of $350 to separate them from "undesirable" cell mates.

Fitzgerald declared that all members of the International Longshoremen's Association voted "14 to 13" not to work longer loaded in British Coal.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Lewis, a New York couple married in 1926, have reserved the Assembly Room at the Waldorf for anniversary celebration for the next ten years.

And they say the world has been captured by sport.

Members voted "50 to 14" to go to work for two minutes July 1 in memory of Jimmie Johnson, fallen in France during last summer's strike instead of continuing for the entire day.

They also voted "40 to 14" to decide the Portland defense fund raised to defend longshoremen arrested in the summer.

The four Mooney defendants will receive $1,000 and L. L. A. Jones, an auto worker, the lumber strike strike.

Trouble Shooter Is Dispatched To Alaskan Colony

SEATTLE, July 3—A new Matanuska project "trouble shooter"—Captain Charles E. Parsons of the United States Navy was here today buying materials, employing expert workmen and getting ready to sail for Alaska late this week.

Parsons, who arrived last night from Mare Island Navy Yard, California, faced a strenuous program of official conferences, interviews with prospective foremen and the buying of portable sawmills, electric generators, lumber, well diggers and tools for the Government land settlement in the mountain-walled valley beneath the midnight sun.

A trim Coast Guard cutter, the Shoeshine, was standing by ready to sail with the party on short notice to Seward, probably either Saturday or early next week.

Youths Being Sent To Camp At Clyde

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3—Homeless youths from all parts of California today are being concentrated at Clyde, Contra Costa county, preparatory to the opening of the country's first Citizens Training camp for transient juveniles on July 13.

Nearly 200 homeless boys from Los Angeles, San Diego, San Bernardino and other congested areas already have been enrolled in the corps, which will number at least 225 when it has been recruited to its full strength.

The task of mobilizing the youth from widespread sections of the State and of outlining a comprehensive educational and vocational program for them during their six months period of enrollment, is being carried out under the direction of Frank V. McLaughlin, State Works Project Administrator. McLaughlin made the program possible by agreeing to finance the Corps' activities from SERA funds pending the outcome of efforts to obtain an allocation from $50,000,000 juvenile vocational fund provided recently by the national administration.

Virginia Brett, private secretary to the president of a small bank in bark, is in love with her boss's son, Bruce Triggs, and believes he is in love with her but the rich boy's poor girl combination has caused gossip. Moreover, Virginia is disturbed when Celeste Dugay, an alluring blonde who knew Bruce in college, comes to visit his sister and assumes a possessive air toward him. Finally, Dugay comes of the moment of proposing to Virginia, but he does it rather half-heartedly. Virginia, realizing that this is a game in which a girl has to fight to win out, determines to pin him down to a date for their wedding. She decides to broach the subject when he drives her to work on the morning after his proposal.

CHAPTER XII
YES, let's talk about something pleasant," Virginia agreed. She hesitated, then went on. "Let's talk about our wedding. Bruce, do you think June would be a nice time? Our roses will be lovely then, and I'd like a garden wedding."

There she had said it. But Bruce was suddenly silent. She glanced at him uneasily. He was staring straight ahead. He slowed down and stopped.

Why, they had reached the bank?

What? I discuss that this evening,"

Eccles Accepts Glass Changes In Banking Bill

WASHINGTON, July 3—UP—Matthew C. Eccles, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, who voted in Adminstration's banking bill, now pending in the Senate, tonight accepted the revision made by Senator Carter Glass, D. Va., and a subcommittee.

Eccles hailed the revised bill as a distinct advance toward centralized monetary authority.

Eccles said the administration's idea in presenting the bill was "to place responsibility for the exercise of three existing but hitherto set up monetary powers in one body removed from the pressure of particular political influences."

"Its fundamental purpose," he added, "was to avoid that body with full authority to use these powers in fostering recovery and then in maintaining stability of business and employment."

Changes Made In Liquor Laws Not Important

SACRAMENTO, July 3—UP—Few changes have been made in the liquor control regulations of the State Board of Equalization, according to the revised control rules on file today.

The board decided that stamp covering the 80 cents a gallon tax on hard liquor should be included in the liquor cases by shippers. The stamp would be applied by the retailer upon receipt of his bottled goods.

Licenses for the last six months of 1935 will be due as of August 1, but beginning in 1936, the board voted, license fees will be collected at a year in advance.

The revised rules continue the prohibition against drug stores carrying liquor on the premises.

JAPAN TRADE IS HELD HELP TO U. S. LABOR

NEW YORK, July 3—UP—Japanese trade expansion has helped rather than harmed America's export trade, the American Council of the Institute of Pacific Relations reported tonight.

Annual complaints of United States cotton textile and other industrialists that Japanese manufacturers threaten to destroy American business the council made a contradictory report.

Principal points were:

1. Expanding Japanese trade helps United States exports.

2. Development of Japanese cotton textile industry is best reflected in the growth of American exports of raw cotton to Japan.

3. Growth of Japanese demand for American goods is conditioned upon further expansion of her textile exports.

One stout cornerstone of current American economic policy supports hope for recovery on increased purchasing power of American agriculture. The Institute of Pacific Relations' survey, written by Miriam S. Farley, shows that as never before, Japan is a customer for American cotton—major crop of a large section of the country.

It shows that every time Japan is on the receiving end of an American trade blow, vital United States interests are hurt as hard if not harder than the Japanese.

By demonstrating Japan's position as a customer of the United States Miss Farley hits hard at economic nationalists who argue that American producers of raw materials should adjust their production.

A Few Facts on Various Illnesses—Tabloid of Medical Lore

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

A THREATENED outbreak of diphtheria turns our mind again to just how much publicity is being given to proven health facts. A publication known as "Hygeia" is issued monthly by the American Medical Association. Its articles are written by physicians, dentists, nurses, and dietitians, and its pages make good household reading.

Hygeia has this to say about diphtheria: "There is no other disease afflicting mankind that is so thoroughly understood by science as diphtheria. We have a method that will disclose whether a child will contract diphtheria if exposed to it, and a method to prevent the same from having diphtheria. If a child is stricken, a specific remedy for the disease is always at hand and if used early and properly it makes recovery almost certain. Permanent protection by simple procedure can eliminate this disease as a scourge to children."

Whole-hearted co-operation of everyone is needed in this warfare to aid in making the danger of diphtheria practically negligible. Here is good advice, "Count your blessing, make the best of what you have, do the best you can, and then refuse to worry."

Protect Child's Eyes

"To protect a child's eyes during an attack of measles, clean them thoroughly, lower the window shades so as to shut out the direct sunlight, but by no means should all the light be kept out."

Regarding the eyes as age advances, Dr. Hyman Cohen states, "The eye is the clock of age. At forty-five accommodation weakens and most persons need glasses for close work, although there are some rare exceptions. It is not wise to strain the eyes in natural difficulties and attempt to do without glasses for reading and other close work. False pride should not be allowed to stand in the way of comfort, usefulness, and eye health."

A congenital malformation of the face calls for as early repair as cleft lip, or hare lip. By the age of six weeks the infant is physically equipped to withstand the strain of the operation, and surgical repair should not be delayed."

One ornamental pond can be kept clear of mosquitoes by stocking it with various kinds of top minnows which feed on the mosquito larva." Goldfish also feed on them. A bottle or old tin can in the back yard will furnish enough water to yield thousands of mosquitoes.

"No person should keep dead teeth if it can possibly be avoided; it is unnatural."

"Unless some attention is paid to the causes of eczema, the rash seldom disappears permanently as the result of external application alone."

"The most important symptoms of heart weakness are shortness of breath, inability to lie flat, pain in the region of the heart, palpitation, and swelling of the feet."

Preventing Athlete's Foot

"Paper sandals should be worn in locker rooms and gymnasiums and discarded after use in order to prevent ringworm fungus infection, commonly called 'Athlete's foot.'"

"Many bad boys and peevish girls are made so by the nagging of aching tooth cavities."

"In cities where the entire milk supply is pasteurized, milk born disease is practically unknown."

"The ideal patient will select his family or personal physician with great care, will let him know that he is regarded as the chief medical adviser, with the privilege of calling all the skilled assistance needed, and then will trust this doctor as long as he shows himself worthy of confidence."

"Infectant's infection, or trench mouth, is spread by direct contact. It may be carried by way of infected dishes, table silver, glasses, or public drinking cups, or too close contact with another's breath; the surest way to catch it is by promiscuous kissing."

"Tuberculosis, or consumption, is readily cured in its early stages, and well advanced cases can often be stopped by careful and prolonged treatment. Early signs are weakness, loss of weight and strength, slight rise of temperature, and a hacking cough. X-ray examination gives an early and positive diagnosis."

Short Cuts

An ironing board should have a smooth, firm but soft surface. A board that is broken by hollows or ridges makes it impossible to turn out a good pressing job.

Guide to Charm

The Salt Rub One Way to Soften Skin

By JACQUELINE HUNT

ARMS can always be dressed up for swimming with good powder lotions or one of the non-greasy foundations, cream-colored powder of the proper color to conceal roughness and blemishes. But when arms appear bare under the dazzling, revealing light of the sun, such blemishes are not so easily hidden.

It makes no difference whether you want your arms white and soft or golden-bronze and sturdy, you will want a firm, clear skin. If your arms look pretty discouraging at present, try a salt rub. Do not use this treatment often, as it is pretty severe, but you should know about it as it is the quickest and most effective way to start treatment. You can also use it for an oily, blemished back, or an oily, thick-skinned face.

Pour two tablespoons of common table salt into a saucer, and beside it place a jar of cleansing cream and several pads of absorbent cotton. Dip a pad of cotton into the cream and then into the salt. With a rotary movement, massage the skin from the wrists up to the shoulders and across the shoulders and back if you use it in this area—scrubbing vigorously at the elbows and the backs of the upper arms.

When the arms tingle and sting from this massage, use a rest pad of cotton dipped into the cleansing cream to go over the arms, then use tissues for removing every particle of the gritty salt. Several applications of plain cream may be needed. The elbows have a way of calling attention to themselves, even when the skin is moist. Your arm is soft and lovely, so give them an additional massage with half a lemon. If your skin is normal the combination of salt and lemon juice will bleach dark, discolored elbows after a few treatments.

The next step of the treatment is to saturate strips of gauze in warm olive oil and wrap the arms. Massage the remaining oil into the hands and slip on loose cotton gloves. Leave on while you have a long afternoon nap overnight. In the morning your skin will be smooth and velvety. Try to avoid strong sunshine immediately after this treatment as the skin is sensitive.

The day he took fate by the felloe in Maisch's Little Casino, which catered to small time bouts and other rough-and-ready entertainment. When two boxers entered the ring he clambered after them, and announced their weights. The idea struck gold, and Joe was hired for good.

In the years that followed he announced so many bouts that he lost track of them.

"Fifty thousand fights I'd say I've announced," he once said, "and probably more."

Humphreys always was unusually adroit at repartee and in molding the often noisy and unyielding crowds. Once, after the death of Ernie Schaaf, he made a speech to the unfortunate fighter that had a big fight crowd—as it was sniffling in its collective handkerchief.

The fights Humphreys considered the best inistic animals are the Kid Lavigne-Joe Walcott milling, in which Walcott was still on his feet at the finish when he had no right to be; secondly, he chose the Firpo-Dempsey slaughter in 1923.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "My skin is free from blemishes, but it is extremely dry, and tiny loose scales make it look rough and dull. I live in a dry climate. Creams and oils seem to stay on the surface of my skin and do not help."

—Mrs. A. G."

Have you tried a warm oil facial? This is the quickest way of softening a rough, dry skin. First cleanse your skin thoroughly with an all-purpose or cold cream and then wash with tepid rain water and a bland soap. Rinse, dry and smooth strips of gauze that have been soaked in warm olive oil or muscle oil over your skin. Over this lay a warm, damp towel and leave on for half an hour. After this massage your skin.

ANSWER: Before presenting a picture to a member of the opposite sex, it would be well to find out whether it is wanted. When young boys and girls have a crush, they frequently feel an impulse to give their picture to a girl, framed or unframed.

Does the same understanding govern the giving of a girl's picture? Should a girl be engaged to a man before displaying his picture or wearing it in a locket?

—M. L. H."

This is the rule of etiquette or common usage of any governing the circumstances under which a young man may or may not present his picture to a girl, framed or unframed. Does the same understanding govern the giving of a girl's picture? Should a girl be engaged to a man before displaying his picture or wearing it in a locket?

The kind of picnic that you plan will depend on your locality. If you live in the city and must drive some distance away to picnic grounds where tables are provided you may want to cook the food at home. A meat loaf baked immediately before you start, covered tightly and wrapped in many old newspapers will retain its heat for a long while.

Or a stew or fried chicken can be kept hot in a thermos jug. Stick bread and butter sandwiches, a crisp cold salad of mixed greens and tomatoes, or cole slaw, a cake or cookies and fresh fruit make a complete meal.

Modernizing Picnics Helps Enjoyment

By JUDITH WILSON

THE trouble with picnics is that we do not have enough of them. Mothers who have forgotten that picnics should be modernized just as our menus have been. They still think of picnics as the old-fashioned kind that called for hours of baking, stuffing eggs, spreading sandwiches, frying chicken, freezing ice cream and last, but not least, packing and wondering how many of their delicacies would reach the picnic grounds intact.

If you will forget all of the old notions that you have had about picnics you will learn to enjoy and appreciate them. Picnics offer an inexpensive and delightful way of entertaining close friends, they save money and they save work. And your menus can be as varied, as simple and delicious as you want them. You can even prepare for an impromptu picnic on twenty minutes notice as I'll prove to you later on.

MODERN WOMEN

Mother Worries About Son Who Wants to Marry Girl Older Than He

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

SHOULD a young man of twenty-three marry a woman seven years his senior, and a divorcee at that? The mother who puts this question to me today evidently believes the answer is "no." But is it?

"My dear Mrs. Martin: Our only son, age twenty-three, has fallen in love with, and wants to marry, a woman seven years older than he, and a divorcee. We feel terribly about it, but I have to admit that I think the girl is everything she should be. Her first marriage made when she was very young, was to a man who drank and abused her. No one blames her for freeing herself from him. She has no children. MRS. MARTIN

It does seem his mother is a tragedy to us, however, to have our son marry her, so much because of the divorce, but because of the difference in their ages.

"We have both talked as plainly and sensibly as we know how to our son and, as I know the girl very well, I have talked with her, but what good did it all do? I don't know what to do next. Our families and many of our friends think we should show our disapproval of this marriage and try to break it up. What do you think? Distracted."

You discover any way short of murder to stop two people in love from marrying, once they get the idea of marriage in their heads, you have made a discovery such as no one has ever made before, and are eligible to be listed with the immortals. You know perfectly well you can do nothing to break up this marriage, and were I in your place I wouldn't try.

Duty Is Done

You have done your duty to both parties by pointing out to them the dangers of a union of two people whose ages show a difference on the wrong side of the ledger. It's a risk, but two people in love will take it, and I for one don't blame them.

There have been extremely happy marriages where the woman was older than the man. I don't say that it's the best adjustment, but I do know that it can work out most satisfactorily, providing the contracting parties have any conception of what marriage really means or what love really is. When the union is based on nothing but attraction, there is little or no hope of lasting happiness. If, coupled with a strong attraction, is understanding, consideration, compatibility and an honest-to-goodness affection the marriage can hardly help but succeed.

If the woman your son wants to marry is not torn with jealousy every time a younger woman casts sheep's-eyes at her husband and has the wit to make him so indispensable to him, so he will not contest her with younger women, she is worth marrying. Wives older than their mates know they have to excel at their job in order to offset the age handicap.

Not a Tragedy

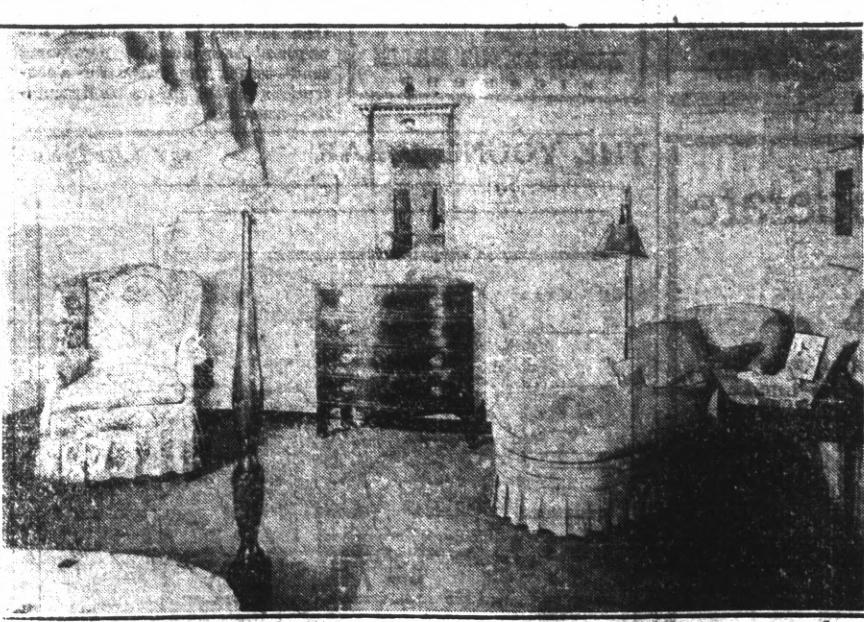

It's natural for you to be disturbed by all this, but I think you are in error to refer to it as a tragedy. It is rather a disappointment to you, and a sporting chance these two must take. It has none of the elements of tragedy, really, so stop attaching such importance to it.

I gather that you have known the girl and like her, and if I am right in so assuming, I think it is up to you to help her and your son make a success of the marriage. You can do this by accepting her on her own merits and on showing the world that you have given confidence in the future. Your friends will wait to see what attitude your son and wife will back you up in it, no matter whether it's for or against.

On the other hand, considering the youth of your son, I feel that you are perfectly justified in sparing for time. It is not unusual for a young man to form an attachment for an older and more experienced woman. Nearly all of them pass through such a phase. Give your son time to recover from this infatuation, if that's what it is. It's only fair to all parties concerned. But if the symptoms are here, and not a passing infatuation, stand by and give them both all the support possible.

LONG HITS ROOSEVELT HOUSE AIDS

sat back in his comfortable desk chair in his air cooled office as the writers crowded inside.

LONG IN ATTACK

The tense atmosphere that surrounded the Capitol all week as the House considered the utilities bill still remained today and flared into an attack by Senator Huey P. Long, Democrat, Louisiana, on Democratic leaders who did not support the President on the "death sentence."

Taking the floor after Black had asked for quick action on his resolution to investigate lobbying by the utilities interests on Capitol Hill, Long pointed out that the resolution did not include alleged influence brought upon members by the Administration.

CHARGE HURLED

He said sarcastically that Chairman John O'Connor of the House rules committee and Acting Majority Leader Edward T. Taylor were "so disinterested" that "they didn't even vote on the measure."

Up leaped Majority Leader Joe T. Robinson to raise a point of order that no senator is permitted to make personal references about members of the House. The point promptly was sustained by Vice President John N. Garner.

LONG SPEAKS

Undaunted, Long continued: "We should not make a superficial, scratching inquiry on the surface," he declared, "but also let's not make it a one-sided affair. Is it less proper for an official connected with the Administration to seek to influence a member's vote than a person connected with private industry?"

"Let's not make fish out of one and fowl out of another."

Long complained that he could see no reason for "singling out" the utility holding companies for "regulation and destruction" and leaving out of the fold "the oil trust, the food trust, the marketing trust and the shipping trust."

Eureka Editor The Victim Of Heart Attack

EUREKA, July 3.—UP—A sudden heart attack caused the death today of C. L. Day, 62, editor and publisher of the Humboldt Standard, Eureka daily newspaper, at his home here.

Day was a veteran of 45 years newspaper experience. He was a close friend and former business associate of Governor Frank F. Merriam.

He was born in Lenox, Ia., in 1872. As a young man he moved to Nebraska and was admitted to the bar in that State.

He came to California in 1906, bought the Long Beach Press from Merriam, sold it and subsequently purchased the San Luis Obispo Telegram, the Porterville Recorder, and finally, the Eureka publication.

Day is survived by the widow, Ethel Hayes Day, and a brother, E. W. Day, secretary of the Standard Publishing company.

Funeral services have not been arranged.

Civil Engineers At L. A. Meeting

LOS ANGELES, July 3.—Delegates to the annual convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers, numbering nearly 1000, gathered here today for the opening of their five-day session.

Fifty-nine speakers are listed to speak on various engineering problems during the meeting.

Arthur Smith Tuttle, president of the society, reached here yesterday. He declared California is "apparently emerging from the construction depression in banner style."

rating to go.

Word came from the sacred precincts of the grand jury that Max was to be summoned for contempt of the body and that he was being held in custody.

He was to be tried on charges of failing to appear before the grand jury.

Frankly we were all in a trouble.

Violently acted in fact that we forgot to receive a copy of the warrant from which the summons affray could be witnessed.

SIGNIFICANT SILENCE

Suddenly the mutterings, the rumblings and the tumultuations ceased.

Strain our ears as we might, not a sound could be heard. The grand jury met in special and final session.

SOMETHING HAPPENED

Something in the interim had happened.

What that something was is the mystery, which yet remains to be solved.

But that something must have been a potent to call off the orders of war which had been straining at their leashes.

POSSIBLE EXPLANATION

After all, like it or not, the in-controversial fact remains that Mr. Grabstein is quite a political factor in his own bailiwick. True, he acquired many enemies, who are constantly gunning for his hide, that it may be annexed as a moment, but on the other hand he has quite a plenitude of friends, as attested by his election and in divers other ways.

Could it be possible that someone whispered into someone's ear that it would be unwise to disturb the political balance in that neck of the woods only a comparatively few months prior to an election?

I cannot say that any such confidential communication was imparted, but along with several other unsolved mysteries, I really would like to know for my own satisfaction what really did happen. Wouldn't you?

Husband's Action Frees Wife Of Shooting Charge

MARTINEZ, July 3.—Mrs. Helen Faria, 36, of Pittsburg, was freed today on a charge of assault with intent to murder, when her husband George Faria, 29, whom she was accused of shooting in the right arm and chest on May 16, told Justice of the Peace Wade Moore of Pittsburgh, that he didn't know whether his wife had wounded him. Faria swore to the complaint.

Recently he approached Deputy District Attorney Rev. L. Boyer and asked to drop charges although he had previously declared there would not be a reconciliation.

Farin had charged that his wife fired a shot at him from a .22 caliber rifle through a window after they had had a midnight quarrel. She fled to Oakland, but was arrested two weeks later when she attempted to arrange a tryst with her husband at an Oakland theater. He notified officers, who accompanied him to the playhouse and placed her under arrest.

Reese McLevy, who resides at the Faria home, was the only other witness to testify at the hearing. He said he heard a shot, encountered Mrs. Faria in the hall and she warned him to "keep out of this."

New Sales Tax Law Test Suit Will Be Filed

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—UP—A suit to test the constitutionality of the new State sales tax will be filed immediately by the California Retail Grocers and Merchants' Association, W. D. Hadeler, secretary, announced today.

The suit will be filed merely as a protective measure, Hadeler explained, pointing out that should the law later be declared unconstitutional, grocers absorbing the tax themselves would lose all money paid the State in excess of the former tax of two percent.

No policy of absorbing the tax and raising prices to cover the increase has been adopted by the association, Hadeler said.

MAN TELLS POLICE OF TOT'S DEATH

his crippled red-headed wife, Florence, also was in custody. "I was just scared," mumbled Goodrich, natty figure in blue jacket and white flannel trousers. "I didn't mean to kill her."

The erstwhile handman waived extradition. He is expected to be returned to Detroit by plane tomorrow.

TELLS STORY

He needed little urging to tell detective about the September 20 murder of little Lillian Gallagher who disappeared while selling tickets for a school raffle. Her violated body was found a week later in a trunk in an apartment, hastily vacated by Goodrich and his wife.

Goodrich nonchalantly told interrogators at headquarters about meeting the child at Woodward and Cass avenues and asking her to come to his room and help him take some books back to the library.

CHILD SLAIN

"We went to my room and I took her to the bedroom."

Then, he said, he told the child what he meant to do.

"She screamed and tried to run away," related Goodrich, almost listlessly. "She ran into another room and slipped on a rug. She hit her head knocking her unconscious. I feared the worst because I had committed a similar crime some years ago. It was for this attack that Goodrich was committed to an asylum."

FLED CITY

"I took a towel and gagged her and I choked her and put her in the bath tub and let her stay there awhile."

"Then I put her in the trunk. I went out looking for my wife, who was selling pies and cakes nearby."

"I said, 'Florence dear, two men are following me. I am afraid of that old case in Lima. Do you remember,' I said, 'let's get out of here. Let's leave our furniture.'

"We went to Canada. We stayed there a time and then went to Boston and last November we came to New York and we've been living here ever since."

Mrs. A. Rumsey Local Matron, Taken By Death

Friends are mourning the death of Mrs. Annie Rumsey, 69, of 518 Ninth street, who died at a Martinez hospital yesterday morning.

Deceased was a native of Tennessee and had lived in this city for the past 19 years. She was a possible successor to the late Brigadier-General Seth E. Howard, head of the California National Guard.

Colonel Allen's name was proposed to Governor Merriam, who will make the appointment, by Col. R. E. Middlestadt of Sacramento, who formerly was Brigadier-General. The Governor did not comment.

Deceased leaves her two daughters, Mrs. Mandie Boring of Fountain City, Tenn., and Mrs. Clara LeBrun of Yreka; two sons, Charles Burns of Richland and Joseph Burns of Millville and one brother, George Gamble of Arizona.

The body has been taken to the Richmond Funeral Home.

QUAKE HITS TOWN

SALTA, Argentina, July 3.—UP—The town of Lapoma was rocked today by strong earthquake shocks. It had not yet been determined whether any damage was caused. Lapoma was virtually wiped out by an earthquake in 1930.

United States District Attorney J. Charles Dennis refused to divulge names of government witnesses.

Judge E. E. Cushman, who will preside at the trial, had not yet been asked by defense attorneys John Dore of Seattle and Steve O'Brien of Tacoma to issue subpoenas.

Defense witnesses will include Harmon Metz Waley, 24, husband of the defendant, who pleaded guilty of abducting the curly-haired son of a wealthy lumberman and is serving a 45-year sentence at McNeil Island penitentiary. O'Brien has indicated, that he will not be present.

Reese McLevy, who resides at the Faria home, was the only other witness to testify at the hearing.

He said he heard a shot, encountered Mrs. Faria in the hall and she warned him to "keep out of this."

RIVER BOAT WORKERS TO VOTE TODAY

suits.

During the day the employers charged that Harry Bridges, left wing leader of the local I. L. A., had sent pickets to the steamer Point Clear from the Maritime Federation of the Pacific. Bridges last night was elected chairman of the federation.

SCHEME CHARGED

"Appearance of these pickets obviously is a part of a scheme by radical maritime leaders to prevent resumption of work on the Point Clear," the shipper charged. "This association has no agreement with the Maritime Federation—only with the individual unions. Therefore it cannot enter into negotiations with the Federation. This gives the radical faction a new excuse for delay in returning to work."

Federation officers, however, denied that pickets at the Point Clear were from other than individual unions.

BARGEMEN WILL VOTE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—UP—Striking bargemen aboard 15 steamship lines serving the Sacramento and San Joaquin river territories will be called tomorrow to vote on whether they will return to work pending arbitration of wage and hour demands.

Negotiations to end the strike collapsed last night when workers purportedly refused to return to their jobs pending arbitration, unless the employers paid them wage advances demanded in the strike call.

The fifteen companies involved tonight announced complete suspension of service for the time being. It was considered many would resort to truck transportation during the tie-up. The State Railroad Commission today granted permission to three of the river companies to use trucks until their vessels may be restored to service.
